

Methodist Retirement Communities selects Unidine as its Strategic Dining Partner

TEXAS - August 26, 2020 Methodist Retirement Communities announced that it will extend its partnership with Unidine, a leading provider of food and dining management to all seven of its communities across the state. Unidine and Methodist Retirement Communities have been on-going partners at MRC's Cornerstone and The Crossings communities.

Methodist Retirement Communities has been serving Texans for 58 years and is multi-faceted with offerings ranging from Independent Living to Home Health. Unidine provides the experience and support to pivot and customize offerings to cater to different living formats and serve needs across all seven communities.

Under this new partnership, Unidine and Methodist Retirement Communities leadership teams will collaborate to design and implement unique solutions to meet each campus' changing needs as they prepare to reopen dining services in the wake of COVID-19, while taking advantage of economies of scale that exist with an expanded scope of services. The decision to expand the relationship is part of Methodist Retirement Communities continued efforts to create a unique and innovative dining experience for residents, while keeping new safety protocols top of mind amid continuing COVID-19 concerns and creating a world-class environment for aging seniors.

“We are excited to partner with Unidine and build on the success they’ve had at Cornerstone and The Crossings. Unidine brings scratch cooking and resident driven menus and service. Combine that with their innovative spirit and we are changing the dining experience to make life good for those we serve,” said Alan Brown, CEO at Methodist Retirement Communities.

Since its founding in 2001, Unidine has been committed to providing one-of-a-kind solutions, high attention to detail, and premier service. Their aim is to deliver on your excellence, through their expertise.
